Customer-specific Training

GEFEG offers training courses on eBusiness standards as well as courses on the software GEFEG.FX, its basics, functionalities and possibilities. These courses give you the opportunity to acquire new knowledge and expand your knowledge in these areas or to refresh and deepen existing knowledge. You will get to know the software better and more intensively, thus using it even more effectively and learn new things about electronic data exchange and electronic business transactions.

We would also be pleased to offer these services as company training courses on site in your company, which we design in consultation with you according to your wishes. In addition to the standard topics described above, we are also happy to impart our knowledge of eBusiness standards in general or data modeling with UML. Of course, we also organize individual workshops on topics that are relevant to you.
